

February 3, 2023

Good morning! It's Rainie from the Seal Team, back with you all for Seal Summary Friday!

February is National Library Lover's Month. Libraries are sanctuaries for peace and quiet. It is a place where you are with people who want to acquire knowledge, a safe space to escape from everyday distractions and frustrations. So, how did National Library Lover's Month come to be? Well, you need to know that not everything is on the internet. Libraries are and have always been a great source of information for people. Libraries offer services like assistance in finding books and other information you might need. Besides, flipping the pages of a book is way better than staring at a screen to learn information. Libraries have more than just books. Libraries host meetings of local clubs and organizations full of amazing people, as well as places for holding special events occasionally. Libraries are also a place to get work done. You can do schoolwork there too.

Overall, I think we can all agree that libraries are a great place to be and an important aspect of a lot of people's lives. Think about where you would go to find information if the internet didn't exist!

Now, please take this moment to recite the seal team pledge with me

Thanks for listening and have Flip Through a Page Friday 😊
